Helping the Future of the Community Boys and Girls Home and Family Services, Inc.

“Helping the future of the community,” was the theme of the day at the Sioux City Community Theatre during their recent clean up day. Clients and staff from both Sioux City and South Sioux City units from Boys and Girls Home and Family Services, Inc. gave back to the community by donating their time to help with several projects.

“It felt good not acting for ourselves,” commented one client; who along with several units of girls and boys worked tirelessly to move costumes from the current storage area on the main level of the SCCT to their newly constructed costume storage area in the basement. “It taught us teamwork,” as units from both Sioux City and South Sioux City worked in tandem to complete the monumental task in short order, while at the same time organizing the costumes.

In addition to that project several boys units from Boys and Girls Home and Family Services, Inc. worked scraping and preparing the outside of the Theatre in preparation for a long overdue paint job. The units also helped Theatre volunteers’ empty two semi trailers which was in itself no small task.

The help provided by the clients and staff of Boys and Girls Home and Family Services is a tremendous service to Sioux City Community Theatre”, said Amy Nilles, SCCT Executive Director. ”The completed work has saved SCCT countless hours and hundreds of dollars. We are very thankful to everyone who assisted in the day’s events.”

When asked about the experience clients commented, “It was fun,” “It felt really good to help the community,” but most of all “It was worth the work because WE helped the community!”
